VicRoads is introducing a new number range for club permit number plates.

The current series of plates for club permit holders ranges from 00000.H – 99999.H. We’re currently issuing plates from 95000.H onwards, and expect to complete this series in the coming months.

The number series in our next release will range from 0002.H.2 – 9999.H.9. This new series will run on our existing plate design (dark red background/white lettering).

To ensure the plates are readable by electronic readers and intelligent management systems (used by the Victoria Police and tolling organisations), there will be some combinations in this new number range that we can’t use, particularly those with the numbers 0, 1 or 5 directly before or after the H.

We’ll let you know when distribution of this new series of plates commences being distributed.

Club permit enquiry February Delegates Meeting

CPS plates
Are plates transferable on sale of the vehicle?
When a CPS vehicle is sold, the permit is not transferrable and must be cancelled with the purchaser to apply for a new permit. When the permit is cancelled, there is no requirement for the plates to be returned to VicRoads unless VicRoads specifically requests the plates to be returned (which is done when a permit is cancelled due to a breach.)

CPS plates are not transferrable except where (1) the owner changes clubs or (2) the vehicle is sold to a member of the same club.

There have been some instances of significant plates where re-use of plates has been allowed. These are considered on a case by case basis for rare and unusual circumstances.
Inspired by the 3rd Generation, turning a project into reality!

It was a fun day recently when the “3rd generation special” 1916 Chassis was fired up and driven for the first time.

Inspired by my 15 year old son Calvin, and an article about a similar 3 generation project that I read in the Model T Times, I thought it would be a fun project to do something similar.

Starting with a left over front axle assembly from a recent replacement in my 1916 Tourer, I started to source parts to get the project underway.

An engine that I had previously sold to another club member was purchased back and was rebuilt. As part of the project, Calvin was able to document the rebuild of the engine and transmission and presented the operating engine in an engine stand at school to his teachers and friends. His Pop, (Bill Landy) and Grandpa Martin Dare were both in attendance as Calvin demonstrated the operating motor and transmission.

A chassis, front spring and steering column were sourced from a well known Model T collector in South Gippsland and with other components being sourced from Club members and Swap Meets.

An abandoned project, Timber pickup body was purchased in NSW. A cabinet maker friend is completing the woodwork detail on the body and it should near completion in early 2019?

Calvin has recently gained his learners permit and is looking forward to logging some hours behind the wheel of a Model T he can call his own.

I look forward to the day when Calvin can attend a T club event driving his own car.

Regards,

Bill, Warwick & Calvin Landy.
Cup Weekend Rally

We arrived Friday afternoon, booked into the caravan park we were all staying. Was a very nice caravan park. Bruce, Jenny, Chris and Fiona cooked a beautiful BBQ, lots of meat and salad and everyone had a great chinwag. Talked about plans for the weekend, all sounded great.

Saturday morning we all met outside the caravan park and were joined by a few other club members. We had a run down of our plans for the day and we were off. First place we went was Ballam Park Homestead, where we got a tour of the house and a lovely morning tea of scones, jam and cream and a hot cuppa. We also found out there is such a thing as a “whatnot”. There was a lot of old farm machinery and tools and a museum. When we left the homestead we went to McClelland Sculpture Park and Gallery. The gardens were lovely to wonder through with lots of interesting sculptures. We had lunch on the grounds then headed off to Borg Sorenson's aeroplane hanger where he was building a couple of Chipmonk aeroplanes. He had a Tigermoth, a couple of Chipmomks a Cesna and a Model T ute. He and his wife Liz put on an great afternoon tea. After that some people went to Tyabb Packing House Antiques then headed back. That night we went to Baxter Tavern for tea. They were busy but the meals came out quick. There was a live band playing. It was a great night.

Sunday we met out front again. First stop for the day was Moorooduc railway station where we had a tour of the rail yards, engines and carriages that were being restored. We then had a ride on the old steam train to Mornington and back. When we got back to Moorooduc we were asked to take the cars back to Mornington to get some photos of the cars in front of the steam engine. After that we headed off to David and Julie Jones house in Rosebud. They put on the most amazing lunch for us all. It was incredible. Themen all loved David's shed and the ladies all loved Julie's pantry. Thank you David and Julie for a great afternoon. Back to the caravan park after that, we chose to drive back along the coast to Frankston. Was a magnificent day for model t cruising.

Monday, had a morning meeting and headed off to the Cranbourne Botanical Gardens. Little bit of rain on the way but cleared up. Garden were beautiful, all natives. Ann and I walked up to the look out tower, was well worth the walk, u could see both bays as the weather was starting to clear up. We caught up with the group and had a bus tour of the Australian garden, which was really interesting. The tour guide was great she didn't stop talking about all the plants and landscapes, there was a lot for us to learn. If you haven't been its definitely worth a trip to go see it. We had a great lunch in the cafe. Our sausage rolls were a big as a pie. We stayed for a few more hours then headed off on our own accord. That night we had another BBQ with all the members. Thanks for cooking the snags Robby. We all had another good chat and talked about how good the last few day had been.

Tuesday we got up and the rain was pelting down which made it really hard to pack up our tent. It just got chucked in the boot. Some of the members went to Gadenworld in Springvale on their way home. We just went home in the rain and put everything in the shed in the rain but it did clear up for the people that went to Gardenworld.

A big thanks to Bruce, Jenny, Ruth and Grace for a great weekend.

GREAT AUSTRALIAN RALLY

Well once again the Great Australian Rally is on again. After missing last year it is back with a new sponsor, EASTLINK, and a new venue at CRUDEN FARM, the former home of Dame Elizabeth Murdoch.

Our Club has once again reserved an area in the grounds where we can all park together and have our small marquee set up. This is a great opportunity for members to start the year off with a pleasant drive to Frankston, enjoy a picnic lunch in beautiful garden surrounds while enjoying the company of other Club members.

So come along and check out all the Veteran, Vintage and Classic cars on display and trade stalls, and at the same time contribute to the Peter McCallum Cancer Foundation.

This event is always well organised by The all British Classic Car Club Victoria.

So start the year off with a drive and relaxing afternoon listening the the R.A.N. Band looking at cars and gardens, and catch up on all the gossip from the holidays.

BUNNINGS DISPLAY DAY OCTOBER

Once again we were asked to display some of our cars at the Vermont St. Bunnings to coincide with their Spring launch.

We had the usual culprits turn out, namely Dean Williams 1926 Tourer, Robbie Dalton 1921 Tourer, Geoff Brooke 1925 Tourer, Chris Dillon 1924 Tourer, Brian Smith TT Truck and Phil Dorne with his Speedster. Phil's daughter Sara came along for a ride.

Russell Medhurst brought along his MG TC and Nathan Medhurst turned out his 1965 Valiant AP5. Also in attendance to lend support were Steve and Jake Brown, Pam and Colin Weidemann, and relatively new member Jenny.

It was good to see Lyle Detez make an appearance along with Marg, of course Kristine and other partners also turned out for the day. So we were able to show our cars off again and Bunnings made a contribution to our raffle.

Thanks to all for your support. Robbie.
Cousin Phill in his '68 austin ex fire truck and my self in the Bottle O left Colbo last Thursday on a planned trip to Lightning Ridge, Bourke and then to follow the Darling River down to Wentworth and Red Cliffs which is Phil's and was my home town.

We enjoyed an easy and uneventful trip to Henty and camped with my number 2 daughter and on Saturday took in Temora Warbirds air show which features military aircraft from ww2 right up to the Fa 18 and including the iconic spitfire among other's. If you can live with a sore neck for three day's it really is a site worth seeing.

Departed Henty Monday for West Wyalong stopping for lunch at the Jail break cafe at Old Junnee, our first mistake, it's not licenced otherwise day was easy.

Originally our plan was to go thru Forbes until the Rabbit Trap hotel was bought to my attention and then one of the Colbo pubs more frequent patrons insisted that the Fifield hotel was one not to be missed and we didn't but shoulda, arrived around 3.00 and set about rehydration , happy hr kicked at 5.30 when all the local cockies arrived and I think it finished about 10.30 when after two middies of port I flopped for the nite on veranda couch, severely flyblown in the morning.

Wednesday it was of to Albert and the Rabbit Trap hotel a short easy day so left Fifield late and managed to stay respectable, had an early night around our fire drum and planned an early start Thursday. A week on the road and a 100k run to Warren where the indicators and horn gave up, never went near a pub but topped up up at the IGA, got some food also and camped by the Macquarie river, nice spot.

Friday, a big day, 180k to Corinda another recommendation by another Colbo pub patron ( gotta stop listening to these blokes ) just as the primary school got out so spent an hour driving kid's, mothers and teachers around town and found the mums had paid for my next 6 drinks and I was only going to have four. Checked the camp ground while driving around and the only shade was from a couple of star pickets so decided to as at the pub for further and better's but that idea went down the drain as it was happy hr again, did remember to eat and at eleven oclock thru my swag down on the veranda.

Saturday the plan was head out to Come by Chance in hot hard head wind but at the turnoff we found the radiator had sprung a leak so temp fix put back on the road and the chance got the flick, Walget here we come, the wind picked up and putting a litre of water in the radiator about every 50ks thrilled ne to bits. The only thing I can say about Walget without being told I'm politically incorrect is that it exists but I'm not sure why although the sport's club does a good feed and the beer was good to.

75ks to the lightning Ridge, the main reason for the trip, 36 dgs and wind hard from the west so got to enjoy 20ks of dust storm with a bit of thunder an lightning thrown in then it started to rain and yep you guessed it, the bloody wipers dont work and while doing U turns in town looking for a caravan park the indicators and horn pack it in, Sheesh.

Set up camp in the shade of a chain wire fence and head for the bowls club, happy hr again and boy were we ready for it this time. Turned in happy and pain free about 10.00 and sometime in the wee hour's the mother of all storm's kicked in for about 4hrs, what sounded like a couple inches of rain was only 3 ml.

Will look around here for a couple of day's and then head into more politically incorrect territory.

An Epic Journey  by  Norm Morgan
The roadside radiator fix got us into Lightning Ridge with no further problems so Sunday saw the radiator out to do something more permanent, that magic metal set's rock hard so was not game try removing it and risk a job I didn't want to now about so more M.M was applied and now all is good but is something to watch for the next 2000ks.

Have had good look around the Ridge in the company of an ex Colbo fella who pointed out all the high points which are round holes in the ground, square holes, piles of rock, the pub beer garden where the local indigenous land council meets every day at 12.00 and meetings run till last man / woman standing mopes up the spew, needless to say I have not attended any meetings as I would probably be coincided politically incorrect, the main point is bowls club, cold beer great meals and did I say nice cold beer.

Phil, my traveling companion is ecstatic, the place is littered with rust and corrosion, he spent yesterday stripping what he could of an Austin truck and as I write is now pulling out the heater demister of another in 38 deg heat.

Bloody hot since we got here, temp has not been under 36 and currently 38, as a result the diet is just managing to sustain life, its fortunate that just across the road is a really good breakfast cafe, that starts the day, lunch is best forgotten as it generally involves a twist top or three when the temperature hits the middle 30's, tea is not something to waste energy on as it's still bloody hot at 8.00pm, the last three nites the evening meal has been twist tops, three slices of coon cheese held down by a couple of slugs Muscat, not sure what tonite offering is as we're out of cheese.

The plan right now is to hit the road at sparrow fart tomorrow and go as far as possible by lunch time wherever that maybe and camp up before it gets to hot.

The journey fluidly continues,.....

Finally got away from Lightning Ridge Friday with the Austin full of spare parts and headed for Cumborah, 45ks of sealed back roads and onto 20 ks of dirt road of varying surfaces to Grawin (pronounced Graaawin as in Caaarlton ) opal fields and home of the Club in the scrub, interesting odd ball joint that does a good berger and nice cold ale.

Twelve ks around the corner is the Glengarry Hilton, cant speak for the meals but the beer was first class and the barmaid very obliging. A further 5 ks around the corner is the Sheepyard Inn which on Friday nites does wood fired pizzas and of course cold beer.

Another nite in the beer garden finalized a short hard day, This journeying business could prove fatal, Away from the Sheepyard around mid morning and took the track 80 ks thru the bush heading to Brewarrina, Strezlekie track all over again, horrible...

Now camped at Brewarrina and heading to Bourke and ???

Journeying onwards.....
Dear Mr Ed, firstly apologies for the brief and seemingly negative missive regarding the Grawin / Sheepyard opal field's, at the time of writing I had spent all day worrying about what at the time was very possibly a serious health problem and in fact we had made the decision to reconsider the remainder of the trip in the morning after reaching Bourke and head for Colbo via the shortest and quickest route, but more on that issue another day, fortunately we are still on track.

Back to Grawin etc , the area is interesting, different, and well worth the time to visit, a true moonscape with hundreds of holes and an equal number of heaps of blindingly white rubble, there is not on professionally built structure, all humpies and shacks, most of the roofs are fixed down with masonry anchors, ie, rock's but they seem to do the job and the area we were told still producing good opal, but nobody talks about what they've dug up. The following morning my problem became obvious but I was not ready to talk about it so we headed out on the planned route which I wrote about in my earlier email which suited me fine and camped at Brewarrina which should be fenced off, removed from all maps and the inhabitants ignored, we set up camp near the toilet block with some light spill on our camp but two cars at the other end of the caravan park were pinched and one van ratted, a top spot. Bailed out this morning heading for Bourke with a final decision on which way to head home to be made on arrival but things improved all the way so we thought, stick to the plan and head down the Darling river, well we all know about plan's.

Fuel was needed in Bourke and as every one knows 95 ron fuel is located right along side the 91 ron ulp nozzle, accept in Bourke where the diesel is alongside the ulp, while I was filling up the idiot cousin and traveling companion pulled along side and promptly dropped 95 lts of diesel on top of the ulp he runs on, not even two strokes run on 50/50 mix so $150 worth Jerry cans later to siphon out 80lts and tip in my 60 spare llitres it was back to the servo for further dilution, the result being I'm being followed by a crop duster down the Darling river to Louth. About 40 ks out of Louth we stopped for a 10 min stretch etc but when we pulled away the magnificent Bottle O did not want to cooperate, running like chev or even a VW so time was spent shuffling coils and cleaning thing's to get it running well enough to get into the Shindies Inn mid arvo.

The next couple of hours was taken up with closer inspection of the works, eliminations and a little bad language all to no avail, bugger it and bugger the tent so it was a decent feed and clean sheets for the nite and ease the mental strain at the bar, the only good thing for the day was that my personal problem seems to have cleared up. Monday, a new dawn, a new day and God is showing his love for me by way of a beautiful sunrise and egg and bacon breaky, but the bloody T model hates me, nothing goes right not even a couple of call to roadside assist on 1300 Smith helps, as a result its clean sheets at the Louth pub again tonight.

Hopefully God will show some real loving tomorrow because about now I sure as hell need some, right now I'm going to bed with the sooks, nghtly night........
The journey will go on ( hopefully )
Tuesday 29th, ok the first thing thats gonna happen after breaky is to check the timing, why didn't I do this first, timing reveals No 4 is continuously firing, more calls to 1300 guru and I pull of the timer ( distributor to you flash fellas ) remove no4 contact and clean, nothing obvious but when reassembled the Bottle O runs beautifully and me 'n the T are in love again and all is forgiven.

By this time its to late and to hot to move on so its a couple of beers a bit of tucker and a nana nap and another nite on sheets.

Early start Wednesday while its cool and head for Tilpa 95ks away down the west side of the Darling River, about halfway there on a raggy piece of track the T starts to play up just like its previous antics and the language becomes supreme, first thing is to check the sat nav to find out where in hell I am, that should help I hear you say, well it did, happened to notice the lid on the coil box had come adrift and was dancing around with the gear on top of the coils, removed same problem solved, lid is now riding in the back.

Arrived Tilpa, road not great and day warming up so hit the pub for a couple or three, population of Tilpa when they're all home is six, advise from other travelers was to switch to the east side so of we go heading for Wilcannia 145ks away, road variable mostly bad not chev country but does lead to th golf club bar. Wilcannia is a dying town, the river is not running and what water is in the pools is green and local bores are becoming saline. A sad place. Managed to find a nice shady spot alongside the river for the nite and woke up with kangaroos grasing thee feet away.

Got away from Wilcannia around 10.00am as it's a short 150k run to Menindee and the West side is recommended by a council worker as they have been doing a bit of work on the track, as it turns out a bit is the accurate part of his information.

First 10 k is bitumen and then it goes to $#%@ when it's not only unbelievably rough it's deep sand which is not compatible with the skinny wheels on the T, when the road surface does improve it's blindingly white and the dust blowing of it reducing visibility to about 50 mts.
These conditions alternate in about 10k stretch's and it's maddening, rough as guts slow down and endure it longer then the track improves so you can put on a bit of pace and get the rotten stretch that much quicker and then do it all over again, not a great way to live.
Finally hit the bitumen about 3ks short of the Broken Hill / Menindee road and decided we had a very hard earned thirst so stopped for a short hour to alleviate the problem before enjoying the final 20ks, and just 100mts from the pub I feel the back end start to wander around and we all know what that means, a flat, why is it that I can beat the hell out of little T model tyres for hundreds of kilometers on lousy dirt roads and pick up what looked like the pin end of a drawing pin on the good stuff, same scenario as our last trip.

At the pub I decided the tyre could suffer in the heat while we enjoyed the air conditioned comfort in side and all that goes with it for an hour or so but the job eventually dragged us out, getting the flat off was no problem but the replacement was something else like the wheel had gone hexagonal or possibly square and could get no cooperation from it at all until a bystander produced the biggest pair of multigrips I have ever seen which got the job done, normally bystanders are a pain in arse but this bloke deserved a couple beers, of course he reciprocated and one drink lead to another and you can guess the rest, suffice to say I have a new best friend.

Away early next morning and looking forward to what we're told is 240ks of good dirt road and long stretch's of bitumen to Pooncarie, wakky do lets do it, the first 20ks are bitumen followed by long lengths of very average dirt and short bits of the black stuff the last of which boasted a sign telling us that road conditions vary and to drive accordingly, we worked that out twelve months ago but every little bit of info helps, turned out this bit of bitumen was about 30ks and then as promised conditions varied and our journey became pure hell, 40kms of the most unimaginable road that took over two and a half hrs to navigate and navigate it was from one side of the road to the other looking for something a little bit better only to find that it was probably better where you came from but when you got back it wasn't, absolute pure bloody hell and it was pair of battered bodies that struggled into Pooncarie but don't let anyone tell you the T model's a pussy, they're tougher than a mallee root. Another happy hour and another pleasant evening but the body was buggered so the swag down on soft lawn in the beer garden and enjoyed the sleep of the pure.

Out of town at a reasonable time with about 180ks of bitumen to Red Cliffs, Phil's home town and originally mine, given the conditions and short run I treat the Bottle O gently and run the miles down at about 60 k/hr (even the mighty deserve a rest ) an easy run without excitement until 15ks from its home the Austin refuses the go any further and an hour is wasted on pomie junk, the condenser has broken its earthing mount and proves the value of all the spares he scrounged in Lightning Ridge, finally make it to Phil's shed its Friday arvo so we crack a coldy shake hands and pat ourselves on the back, it's been another good and enjoyable trip done different but I still have 500 plus ks to my bed. Saturday is spent fixing the flat, tidying up the temporary wiring put in at Louth and repack my gear interspersed with old school mates.

Tuesday, Cup day and time to turn my head for home, there had been some discussion over the condition of the front tyres as tread was becoming scarce so I decided to take it easy at around 60k or so and enjoy the tail wind, the plan was to camp overnite at Lake Boga so it's down the Calder to Hattah a left to Manangatang, Chinkapook and pick up the Murray Valley Hwy at Swan Hill then to Lake Boga for lunch and beer. Its only 2.00pm to early to camp so its kick the tyres top up the water and fuel and keep going still enjoying the tail wind. At Gunbower the pub is shut so Torrumbarry becomes a must, on arrival I find a good crowd of Cup day revellers and join them, while I walk 10 yds towards the pub a bunch of the curious gather around the T for a close inspection and that's when the front right tyre decided it wasn't going any further, BANG and road metal flying everywhere, first time I've seen 15 people airborne and traveling in different directions at the same time, in that instant they probably thought I was a muslim come to get em, good for a laugh though.

After a couple of coldies I can start to smell Colbo so its time to change the tyre and get back on the road, head of towards Lockington and now have a cross wind, can't get any better than 55ks out of the old girl until we get a bit of shelter and things pick up. Finally make Colbo around 5.30 after a nine hour 530k drive, a long and tiring day but well worth it. To summarize, we traveled approximately 4000 ks across the full range of road conditions and yes we had a couple of minor issues but if your going to do the journeys we enjoy in a near 100 year old vehicle they're to be expected and it was good to be able to fall back on 1300 smith, he really needs to out live me otherwise I'll seriously get stuck somewhere out there.

Looking back I have to say we had a most enjoyable experience even on the worst of the roads if just for the challenge, and having said that I guess its the challenge that takes us out of our comfort zone. Would I do it again ? Nope, I've been there and done that, is there another trip planed ? Not yet, but there will be by the time May next year comes around.

The journey will continue.

Hello there to all our club members.

With the appointing of a new committee we felt that a reminder for people (especially those with multiple cars/bikes to keep a track of) of their upcoming registration due on their vehicles would be a good idea.

Thus far it has jogged the memories or RTA checking of 3 members, so is proving worthwhile. If you no longer own or have the listed vehicle on red plates can you please ring the secretary and let her know.

This list has been compiled from our current registration register.
